

Info Screen

Context-aware digital signage for all your needs

Integrated information display

Displaying crucial information for residents, employees or visitors can drastically help to be better organized and informed. In connection with FlexAir® access control, the information acquires a dynamic component, as the current content can be interactively changed according to the current conditions. The housing association or the company can personalize the info screens through a wide range of design and content possibilities - showing important notices, weather data, restaurant menus, webpages, videos or images. Any display with HDMI input can present information, while the display on Prima's 21.5" standard screen is optional.

Examples of use

- Residence hallways, where residents names and apartment numbers are displayed, as well as messages for the residents or visitors
- Entrances, where display turns on and shows the desired information, when a resident or visitor steps in
- Receptions of corporations, where info screen shows current and crucial information
- Stores, hotels or hostels, to show today's offer
- Music schools or workshops, where the occupancy of individual rooms is displayed
- Travel companies, for showing playlists of travel videos and pictures
